BRSP is an experienced local NGO in areas of gender mainstreaming, livelihood development, natural resource management, social development, and mobilization. The SSS method is applied because (i) the assignment of social mobilization necessitates a group of experts who have extensive experience in outreaching to vulnerable population in rural areas, (ii) BRSP can bring requisite experience, (iii) BRSP is the only province-wide NGO with presence in the project area and across local communities in the province, (iv) it currently implements programs in the project area and maintains community database; (v) BRSP is a member of a larger network of Rural Support Programs in Pakistan, and (v) engagement of the BRSP through SSS and its timely mobilization will help the PRF consultants in integrating an agriculture development and irrigation management plan into an infrastructure development plan. This package will also facilitate ADB's due diligence activities through access to information and surveys on all beneficiaries, including women and vulnerable households ensuring inclusive project design.
